Second Defense Test Announced

Drill Will Be Held March 29, Waugh States; No Public Participation

A second test drill for the Citizens Defense Corps has been announced by William F. Waugh, Lake county chairman of the Civil Protection Division. The drill will take place Monday, March 29, at 3:30 p. m. Central War time, according to an announcement sent out by Waugh to zone, region, district and county directors and commanders.

In the first test drill, all wardens, firemen and watchers reported, out of a total of 169. Because of the fact that some staff members have business or occupational obligations which require their presence except in the case of a real emergency, Waugh has emphasized the fact that these persons should not be asked to leave their positions.

The purpose of the test has been announced as "to improve the technique of operating the Control Center, especially with regard to reducing the number of telephone calls necessary and the testing of operating equipment such as warning signals, sirens, whistles, bells or radio announcement.

All units are asked to operate, but there is to be no public participation and pedestrian and vehicular traffic is to continue in a normal manner. All signals, of whatever nature, are to be operated for the purpose of testing, and the public is to be thoroughly informed that it is for "test purposes" only.

Schools are being notified, and may conduct their own air raid drills if they so desire.

Not to Interrupt Work
Staff members who are available on call are asked to participate, but this is not made obligatory in the case of those whose presence is required at that time at their work.

Service unit posts and stations are being asked to report the number of their personnel immediately available, and the time it requires for them to reach their stations.

Employed members are not to be called from their jobs, however, and their wives or other members of their families may substitute in handling warning calls, and other features of the test.

Antioch News Dons New Type "Face" in This Issue

If you decide that there's "something different" about your Antioch News this week, you're quite apt to be right.

The News is putting on a new "face," and is being printed with a new set of type, in the "Corona" design. Besides being larger than the old type face, the new type is broader, slightly more "square" in appearance, and is expected to be considerably easier to read.

New headline type was inaugurated by the News two years ago, and the new type for the body of the pages is in harmony with its design.

Mrs. Jacob Drom, III 6 Weeks, Dies

Daughter of Pioneers, 77, Knits for Red Cross to Last Days of Life

Because only death could still the busily knitting fingers of Mrs. Mary Pullen Drom, 35 men in the armed forces of the United States will presently be wearing warm sweaters she made in the last weeks of her life, before passing away at St. Therese hospital Tuesday evening at the age of 77.

Mrs. Drom succumbed to a heart attack at the hospital, where she had been taken for treatment after she sustained a broken hip in a fall six weeks ago. Her husband, Jacob Drom, a retired farmer and teamster, and former town clerk of Antioch, had also been recovering from a fractured hip sustained 12 weeks ago. Although confined to her bed, Mrs. Drom continued to knit for the American Red Cross up to the last. She died Wednesday morning at 1:30 o'clock.

Funeral

Funeral services will be held at 2 p. m. Friday from Strang's funeral home. Interment will be in Liberty cemetery.

Mrs. Drom was born in Antioch township, the daughter of a well known pioneer family. As a child she went with her parents in an ox-drawn covered wagon to northern Minnesota, where they homesteaded for a few years, later returning to Antioch.

Mr. and Mrs. Drom celebrated their golden wedding anniversary last Nov. 24.

Surviving, besides her husband, are their sons and daughters, August, of New Lisbon, Wis.; Nelson of Antioch; Dwight ("Jake") Drom, formerly of Antioch and now employed in defense work in Wisconsin; Mrs. Helen Prohl, South Milwaukee, Wis.; Miss Edna Drom, Mrs. Mary Ellis, Mrs. Clara Horton of Antioch, and Miss Beulah Drom, supervisor of physical education in grade and high school at Madison, Wis. Miss Edna Drom, a registered pharmacist, has been employed in the Reeves Drug stor for the past 18 years.

Also surviving are two sisters, Mrs. Thomas Webb of Gurnee, Ill., Mrs. Sadie Harrison, of Waukegan, and a brother, David Pullen, of Zion.

Mrs. Drom was a charter member of the Trevor Willing Workers society and was active in the Rebekah lodge.

Antioch Bond Sales Are 116% of Feb. Quota

Antioch Township Goes Over the Top in Bond Sales

That residents of Antioch township have again exceeded quotas set by the Treasury department for bond sales was revealed today by Otto S. Klass, chairman of the bond sales committee for Antioch township.

The quota for Antioch township was exceeded by 16% when people of the township purchased $11,039.36 worth of war bonds during the month of February.

Antioch's quota for March has been set at $9,200.00, and confidence is expressed by Chairman Klass that the figure will be met or exceeded. "The quota has been met or exceeded in Antioch Township every month since the inception of the war bond drive," Klass said, "and I and my committee believe that the people will continue to put Antioch over the top this month, and every month, as they have in the past."

Plans are now being formulated to put on an intensive campaign in the near future. Plans are not complete, but include the appointment of a district chairman for each of the outlying communities.

Klass reports that several Antioch firms, including the Antioch Milling Company, Pickard, Inc., King's Drug Store, A&P store and Antioch Lumber and Coal company, have received their certificates for participation in the payroll deduction plan for the purchase of war bonds. It is believed that other business places in the township are eligible but have not applied to the committee for the certificates.

Any business which employs two or more persons may qualify for the certificate and flag by pledging 10% of the gross payroll or signing 90% of the employees for regular payroll deductions, regardless of the amount deducted.

Purchases of bonds for the entire county amounted to $736,395.83, which was 96.5 per cent of the February quota.

March quota has been set at $735,300, which is slightly under the figure set for last month.

Antioch Farm School To Graduate 44

War Production Diplomas Will Be Presented on Tuesday, Mar. 23

A graduation program will be presented on Tuesday, March 23, at the Antioch Township High School Auditorium in honor of the graduates of the War Production Course in Increasing Pork Production.

More than sixty farmers were enrolled. Forty-four met the requirements and will be awarded a special diploma, according to C. L. Kutil, OSYA instructor of the course.

The course, which started on Jan. 5, ended last Tuesday evening when fifty of the adult students met at the Antioch Packing Co. plant and after being taken on a tour of inspection were given a demonstration in meat cutting, curing, smoking, sausage making, and storing.

Members of the class and their immediate families will enjoy a program of music, speeches, a quiz program, and a motion picture. A light lunch is planned by the members.

Walter Hills, a member of the Antioch High School board, will present the diplomas.

Twenty-two Women to Get Red Crosses and Pins

Twenty-two women Red Cross Surgical Unit workers are to receive awards from the National Red Cross for their work in producing surgical dressings according to information revealed this week by Mrs. Edmund Vos, chairman of the local unit.

Mrs. Vos explained that in order to be eligible for the awards, women must spend varying amounts of time in Red Cross work. A small red cross is awarded for 20 hours of work, large cross for 70 hours, and a pin for 144 hours. Among those who will receive the small cross are Mesdames Roman Vos, D. N. Deering, Lester Nelson, George Bacon, A. Kaufman, J. E. Charles, Will Runyard, Howard Smith, Roy Kufalk, Ernest Brook, and Miss Shirley Reynolds and Miss Ruth Ferris. Eligible for the large red cross are Mesdames Elmo Edwards, George Good, Fred Swanson, William Brook, B. R. Burke, and Harry Krueger. Those who have received the pins are Mrs. Herman Rosing, Mrs. Edmund Vos, Mrs. Dan Boyer and Mrs. Vincent Nedbal.

The Northern Lake County Chapter of the Red Cross Surgical Dressing division has a quota of 40,000 dressings per month, and the Antioch unit, one of ten in the Chapter, has produced 9,300 dressings since its organization in November. The average production of the local unit has been about 1,000 to 1,300 per week.

Sixty women of the community have registered with the unit as helpers, however many more workers are urgently needed and leaders in the unit urge all women who can possibly spare the time to assist in this important work. The Red Cross room at 907 Main street is open Tuesday 9 to 4 and 7 to 9, and Thursdays from 12 to 4 p. m. and from 7 to 9 p. m.; and on Fridays from 12 to 4 p. m. Several of the nine instructors included in the membership of the unit are on hand at all times to help the beginners get started.

Plans are being made to open the headquarters for additional hours if enough additional workers can be obtained.

Dr. Frank Keefe Gives Talk for Civic Club

An interesting talk on the mechanics and operation of the human eye was given by Dr. Frank Keefe, O. D., former professor of the Northern Illinois college, at a meeting of the Men's Civic club Monday evening, following a 6:45 o'clock dinner in the Antioch restaurant. Dr. Keefe's talk was entitled, "Why We See Like Human Beings."

Young Arsonists Get Sentence at Wis. Boys School

Chicago Youths Burn, Loot Cottages at Cross Lake

Three Chicago youths, Phillip Piccolo, 16, of 936 Jefferson st.; Nicholas DeVito, 15, of 772 DeKoven st.; and Louis DeRose of 556 Arthington, had their miniature crime wave cut short last Saturday when Deputy Sheriffs Milton LaViolette and William Schmitt of Kenosha county took them into custody after they had been apprehended by local authorities.

The youths who had broken into several cottages at Cross Lake, taken articles of value from them and finally set fire to a cottage which is the property of Roger Dorio of Chicago, were picked up in Antioch by Richard Allner of the Antioch Fire department shortly after the fire was discovered.

Judge R. V. Baker of the Kenosha Juvenile Court committed the three boys to the State Industrial School for Boys at Waukesha, Monday. Under the sentence the boys will remain in the school until they are 21 years of age or are eligible for parole.

The boys, who came out to Antioch on Wednesday, had given out several stories to persons at Cross Lake explaining their presence in the subdivision. One such story was that Frank Kozial, whose cottage was looted also, had given them a key and expense money and sent them out to the summer home to clean it up for the summer season. To another person they explained that they were having a lark at the cottage of a friend.

After having broken into the Kozial cottage and taking a suitcase and a number of small tools and other articles, the boys forced entry into a second cottage, taking a clock and a (continued on page 8)

"Prank" Brings Suffering To Scores in Wreck

Stones Piled on Tracks Are Believed Cause of North Shore Accident

Stones piled on the rails, possibly as a boyish prank, are believed to have caused the wreck on the North Shore line which brought suffering and injuries to between 60 and 80 persons late Monday afternoon.

One of the stones is believed to have been tossed upward by the contact of the wheels and to have severed the air line hose, in turn causing the one-car local to stall in the path of the limited which was following it a few minutes later. A trainman going back along the fog-and-mist-shrouded track to set a flare in the path of the limited was too late to prevent the collision.

One of the most seriously injured was Mrs. Catherine Rouse, 40, of Kenosha, who was employed in the North Shore restaurant at the Downey station, and whose right leg was amputated following her removal to the Kenosha hospital.

Hospitals in Kenosha and Waukegan were over-taxed by the scores of victims rushed to them in ambulances summoned from all nearby communities. Thirty persons, including both service men and civilians, were received at the Great Lakes hospital within a 15-minute period, as the naval training station also gave the use of its ambulances and facilities in caring for victims.

Rescue workers were hampered in their task by the fact that the wreck occurred between the Tobin and McKeon roads and victims had to be carried some distance on stretchers across muddy fields or along the tracks to the ambulances.

Many of the those injured are reported to be still in a critical condition.

It is believed that the number of those injured might have been considerably larger had it not been for the presence of mind of a crewman. While the motorman of the limited set his brakes in a vain effort to keep the fast train from plowing into the stalled wooden local, the trainman hurried to passengers to rush to the far end of the car and lie on the floor.

About a dozen of those least seriously hurt were taken to Kenosha on a later north-bound train, which was switched over to the southbound track to pass the wreckage.

Elsewhere in this paper you will read about one of the little reasons why America and the American way of life are going to prevail in this terrible conflict in which we are now engaged, and are going to keep on doing their part to make this world a better place after the war is over.

Mary Pullen Drom, who as a child had gone with her parents to a homestead in the wilderness of northern Minnesota, in a covered wagon drawn by oxen, was in a hospital in Waukegan with a fractured hip from which she might never recover. She was 77 years of age. She had brought eight children to manhood and womanhood. She had lived a full and busy life, and might well have felt entitled to fold her hands in an earned rest.

But during the closing weeks of her life, she was still a busy woman, for in those weeks she completed the knitting of 35 sweaters to be distributed by the American Red Cross to service men.

It isn't America's wealth that has made her great, nor yet her vast industries, for these are only the outward signs. It's the great spirit that lives in quiet, humble people like Mrs. Drom, who go on, unobtrusively and willingly, doing the little things that count for so much in the aggregate and who know that, humble as their offerings may seem, they are very real ones, and very worthy.

It is this little secret that those who have, through their envy and greed, embroiled this world in this war have forgotten or willfully chosen to overlook. They aren't fighting the great admirals and generals, nor the great industries, nor yet the "almighty dollar." They are fighting the little people, like Mary Pullen Drom knitting in her hospital bed, like the men and the women in the factories, like the boys who have come from a thousand walks of life, to try to become good soldiers and sailors and marines and aviators, like your neighbors and mine, and even like you and me.

You can't beat a combination like that, and thank you, Mary Pullen Drom, for making the last days of your life a living lesson in courage and service to all of us.

The pioneers may be gone, but they left the greatest of all their heritages, their dauntless spirit, to be passed on to us.

Credit and Discredit

In a democracy such as our own where all people are free to think and to act for themselves, there is always a great variety of opinions concerning a number of vital national problems. But there is one issue now before the country upon which most of us are agreed—that this war must be won and won as quickly as possible.

On the credit side of all-out war production, so essential to the winning of the war, we have great industries which have turned from the production of peacetime products to the production of ships, planes, tanks, guns, trucks, and hundreds of other war needs with the greatest possible speed. We have millions of skilled workers who are not only performing their regular tasks but are helping the new workers to learn their new war jobs. We have housewives, business men, the handicapped, and even older children who spend either a part of their time or their whole time in the war plants.

These are the 100 per cent loyal Americans who, while giving up many of the things they are accustomed to having, are putting in extra time, extra money, and extra effort for the common good. They are the people who will win this war and keep its cost in lives and in dollars to a minimum.

On the debit side we have those who would make a profit or a holiday out of the war. These thoughtless or unpatriotic men and women are not only unwilling to give up the things to which they are accustomed, but actually stay away from their jobs to go out on strike because they want more leisure or more money.

Between unauthorized strikes and unwarranted absenteeism, America is losing millions of man-hours that should be devoted to the production of weapons so urgently needed by our armed forces.

The great majority of the American people who are doing their jobs have every right of expect equal effort from those who shirk by staying away from their work without good or sufficient reasons, or striking for any reason at all.

Resentment toward these strikers and absentees is rising on all sides. It is reflected in the press, at public meetings, and in the Congress of the United States. If those who are now clogging the war effort, through any one of a dozen devices, cannot see the light in time it is more than likely that effective measures will be taken to control them.

The "Magnet Line" of Security

In a recent speech on the nation's post-war economic problems, Assistant Attorney General Thurman Arnold said:

"For the past ten or twenty years . . . we have been obsessed with the economics of security. We have been thinking of stabilizing profits, keeping a fool from losing his money, social security, ironing out depressions, creating a situation where anybody who remained sober and didn't run off with somebody else's wife was assured of a comfortable old age.

"I am not opposed to any of these methods of social security or humanitarian measures. I only say that if your whole thinking is obsessed with the idea of security, the same thing will happen to your industrial structure that happened to the French Army that was obsessed with the idea of the Magnet Line. We must get back to the old economics of opportunity, of taking a chance, which made America great, and I think this war is going to do it for us."

TOWN AND FARM

V-Mail Safest

More than fifty thousand individual V-Mail letters from American soldiers in England to relatives and friends in the United States were destroyed when a Canada-bound Royal Air Force plane crashed in Newfoundland. The original letters were reproduced at the Army Postal Service's V-Mail station in England and dispatched by a later plane for the United States. This incident shows the value of V-Mail over ordinary mail.

Farmers Get Gas for Six Months
Farmers may obtain gasoline for their tractors, engines and other non-highway equipment for a period of six months instead of three months under a change in rationing regulations announced by the OPA.

The change is being made because of the variability of farming operations. It also will save the farmers' time.

Size of Armed Forces

President Roosevelt said the goal of 7,500,000 men in the U. S. Army by the end of 1943 was decided on last August, has never been changed and will not be changed. The goal for 1944, he said, probably will be decided this fall. This year's Army goal also calls for 7,000,000 officers, which would make a total of 8,200,000 men in the Army. Adding the goals set for the other armed services, the grand total of all our armed forces by the end of 1943 would be almost 11,000,000.

Outlaw "Combination Sales"

Sales of used wheel tractors, combines, corn pickers, corn binders or power-operated hay balers in combination with other used farm equipment or commodities have been prohibited by the OPA. Numerous complaints have been received that the combination sales device is being employed to force farmers to pay exorbitant prices for such items. The scheme used is to sell an uncontrolled machine of little value jointly with a controlled item at a price which greatly exceeds the ceiling for the machine which is under price control.

Soybean Seed Available

Processors of soybeans and the Commodity Credit Corporation are co-operating to make additional supplies of soybean seed available for planting the 1943 crop. Supplemental supplies will be available to farmers from government stocks at not more than $2.50 per bushel. These stocks are stored in bins and country warehouses in areas where there was no frost damage last fall.

New Furniture Patterns Prohibited

New patterns for wood furniture have been prohibited as of March 15, 1943, and an approximate two-thirds cut in the number of existing patterns as of July 1st has been ordered.

This action limits manufacturers of wood furniture to no more than 35 per cent of the patterns offered during September, 1941, or to 24 patterns—whichever is greater.

Changes in Tire Quotas

The quota of Grade 1 passenger car tires for March has been practically doubled. The increase will take care of accumulated applications, but will not be continued in succeeding months. The quota of truck tires for March was reduced as compared with February but the truck tire recapping quota was increased.

Small Business Gets Contracts

Taking of its first prime contract for 10 million dollars and the negotiation of 38 loans totaling $2,568,000 were reported to Congress recently by the Smaller War Plants Corporation. In addition, the Smaller War Plants Division recommended to the procurement agencies 1,191 firms who received business in the amount of $195,000,000 during the last 60 days.

Wheat and Corn Loans

The Commodity Credit Corporation through February 13th had completed 532,716 loans on 404,415,794 bushels of 1942 wheat, amounting to $547,235,968, the average amount advanced was $1.13 per bushel. In that same period 39,088 loans were made on 46,176,893 bushels of 1942 corn in the amount of $35,093,064. The average amount advanced was 77 cents per bushel.

Quail Saver

A 15-cent bounty on hawks in the lower Rio Grande valley has been offered in an effort to save the quail.

What Hunters Can Do

According to Government estimates, the seasonal kill of waterfowl would provide enough down and feathers for 300,000 aviators' pants and parkas, more than 10,000 sleeping bags or 500,000 sub-zero jackets, if hunters plucked and turned in the down and small body feathers of all birds they kill.

She's Really "COOKIN' WITH GAS"

Miss Honore O'Brien, home service consultant, Public Service Company of Northern Illinois, illustrates carrot dehydration in oven of ordinary kitchen gas range. Under direction of company gas engineers, Miss O'Brien has successfully dehydrated a dozen varieties of Victory Garden fruits and vegetables in gas range oven, of which there are more than a million now in use in Chicago and northern Illinois and 18,000,000 in the United States. With canning equipment on the scarce list, dehydration of Victory Garden surpluses by this method may be cheap, simple answer to food preservation problem for thousands of wartime housewives. Bulletins detailing process are just off the press and available to public on request.

SYNOPSIS

CHAPTER I—The story of their part in the battle for the Philippines is told in this and the following chapters by four of the five naval officers who are all that is left of Motor Torpedo Boat Squadron 3. They are Lieut. John Bulkeley (now lieutenant commander), squadron commander; Lieut. A. R. B. Kelly; and Ensigns Anthony Akers and George E. Cox Jr. (The fifth officer, Lieut. Henry J. Brantingham, has since arrived from Australia). The squadron, hand picked by Bulkeley from volunteers, had come to the Philippines in the fall of 1941. They knew trouble was coming, but the events of December 7 were as much of a surprise to them as to anyone, because they thought the Philippines would be attacked first.

Lieut. Kelly, second-in-command, to whom Bulkeley delegated the task of telling most of the story, describes his secret operations orders, he went to the Officers' Club in Manila on the eve of Pearl Harbor and had a thick steak with all the trimmings. After receiving his orders from Bulkeley the next afternoon, he took three of the boats to Mariveles, on Bataan, where they were to report to the submarine tender for provisions and fuel. When they got there they found the tender had been ordered away. So they set up makeshift headquarters in native huts at Sisman Cove.

CHAPTER II—Lieut. Kelly continues: Reaching the boats from drums was a dangerous job. They found water and rust in the gas, but didn't know then that the gas had been sabotaged. Kelly had a badly gashed finger, but couldn't take time to go to the hospital. Lieut. Bulkeley describes the first big air raid.

CHAPTER III—Lieut. Kelly tells how he was sent to a tunnel hospital on Corregidor, where he met Peggy, a nurse. Survivors from the sinking of a shipload of refugees were brought to the hospital. Patients from Manila were also moved into the tunnel, and Kelly learned from them how badly the war was going.

CHAPTER IV

Continuing the story told him by a member of a tank crew which had been trapped by the Japs on a jungle trail, Lieutenant Kelly asked the lad:

"What happened to your tank?"

"We were lying on our side in that paddy, and the Japs would come over and look at us. We played possum in there all day. They tried to open our door with bayonets, but we had it locked. In the afternoon a Jap officer looked at us through the slots—all of us lying still, holding breath, and then he said, in English, 'They're all dead.'"

"But we figured it was a trick—kept right on playing possum and, sure enough, in about an hour they came back for another look. But we were lying in exactly the same positions. This time they gave a few disgusted grunts and walked off. About an hour after dark we listened carefully, and then unlocked our door. Sure enough, they'd gone, so we beat it for the road."

"Tell me what became of your shoes," I asked him. I couldn't figure how an experienced soldier would ever let himself get separated from his shoes. The kid grinned sheepishly. "I guess that was a damn-fool trick," he said. "You see it had been hotter than hell in that tank, and we were all dirty and tired, and we were all sweaty, so we decided to take a bath in a creek just across the rice paddy. But we had to go through mud to get there, so, keeping our clothes on until we got to the water hole, we took off our shoes and hid them in the tall grass. But when we got back we hunted for several hours, and we couldn't find that grass clump. Finally we started on, barefooted."

"But where were the Japs?"

"They'd gone on ahead toward Manila. The next night we were resting by the roadside. We heard a noise behind us, so we scooted low in the bushes by the side of the road, and saw more of them go by on bicycles—all headed toward Manila. It seemed to be a Jap reconnaissance patrol, because behind them came trucks and guns and infantry, going by in the dark—so close we could have reached out and touched them. If we'd had a machine gun, we could have wiped out several hundred, but we only had our 45's. They kept up most of that night—one group stopped and ate chow on the road bank opposite us; we were scared stiff they'd come over and find us. It was hard for the wounded to lie quiet. Our tank driver had a rivet stuck in his throat—every time he took a drink, the water would come leaking out—and the radio operator's arm was full of shrapnel from an exploding bullet. The rest of us were okay, but our feet were getting damned sore."

"At dawn we stopped by a native village to collect some shoes, but their feet were all too small."

"How'd they treat you?"

"Fine—gave us all the food we could eat, but you could see they didn't want us around. Afraid the Japs would find us hiding there and shoot them too. You couldn't blame the natives. So we got out, and spent the other six days of the trip sleeping in ditches or brush clumps, walking nights."

"Were the wounded weak?"

"Sure, and so were we. The tank driver with the hole in his throat wanted to stop—said for us to leave him behind. We were afraid the Japs would get him and we couldn't spare him a gun—we had only three 45's for the six of us."

"What did you do, carry him?"

"Hell, no. We gave him a 45, told him he'd better use it now if he wasn't coming with us. So he changed his mind, and decided to come on. He made it, too. But it took plenty of guts."

"None of them lacked that." Here Kelly shook his head. "Sometimes training, often equipment, but never guts—and that went for the air force too. Up to then everybody had been cussing out the air corps for letting us down. But after I talked to those pilots I knew they hadn't. They'd done the best job they could with the experience and equipment and leadership they had. Yet how slow everybody learns in a war. No body knows anything about a war until it begins. Just two years before, the Polish air force had been blown to hell on the ground. The French caught it the following Spring. In spite of that, the same thing happened to our planes at Pearl Harbor. And yet two days later, in spite of all of it, the Japs catch our air corps on Luzon with its pants down. Only that wasn't the end. Months later, on my way out through Australia, I passed a big American field, and there they are, bombers and fighters parked in orderly rows, wing tip to wing tip. 'Hell,' they told me, 'the Japs are hundreds of miles away.' Except that's where they're always supposed to be when they catch you with your pants down, and I thought to myself, Jesus Christ, won't these guys ever learn?"

"But getting back to that hospital. I went back to my bunk. Peggy helped me get my arm settled, and we talked a little bit. She was a smart girl. Having been with the Regular Army, she knew real soldiers when she saw them, and you didn't have to talk long with these poor brave kids who were so green they forgot their shoes to know what the score was. Here we were, trying to hold off the Japs with less than two thousand regulars, plus these green kids who had really been sent here to polish off their training, plus thousands of Filipino boys just as brave but just as green, most of whom had never been in uniform until a few weeks before the war started. All of them up against seasoned, well-equipped fighters."

"We should have known the score then, but we didn't want to believe it. Because I was the only naval officer there, they kept riding me about the fleet."

"Where in hell's the navy?" they'd ask me. "Why aren't they bringing us tanks and planes and more men? It only takes two weeks to get here from Pearl Harbor." Of course none of them knew what had happened at Pearl Harbor.

"They'll be along," I'd say. "Any day now."

"Hell," they'd say disgustedly. "We won't see them for six months."

"Suppose we don't," I'd say. "This place can last six months. Wasn't it built like Malta and Gibraltar—to withstand siege?"

"Only pretty quick I began to find out how wrong I was. Corregidor had been built years ago, and then we'd agreed not to modernize it if the Japs didn't modernize the Carolines. We kept the agreement; they didn't. Anyway, ammunition and provisions were so short the Rock would be doing good to hold out three months."

"A few days after that the nurses in my ward were buzzing around—I heard some talk about a party they were giving in their quarters that evening, inviting their boy friends, who for the most part were young army officers stationed on the Rock. And I almost fell out of my cot that afternoon when Peggy, in a seemingly offhand way, asked me if I'd like to go. It was nice, of course, to be chosen, by the girl I liked best, out of 10,999 other men on that Rock, most of whom would have given an ear just to talk to a white girl. But it got me to thinking,

I liked her, but the other girls had said there was a young medical officer she'd been dating pretty steady—and what the hell was I? A naval officer in an army hospital—here today, gone tomorrow—so I hadn't let myself get started thinking—or tried not to, anyway."

"Naturally, I said sure I wanted to go. So Peggy said she'd see if she could fix it with the doctor. And after she got through with him, he was certain it would do me good, if I was back in the ward by ten."

"Here in Newport maybe you wouldn't think it was much of a party. But it was a swell night, with a big moon hanging over Manila Bay—peaceful—and best of all, the girls had broken out with their civilian dresses. That doesn't sound like much, but one look at them after seeing nothing but uniforms for months was like a trip back home. Makeup too—they looked so damned nice you could eat them with a spoon, and Peggy had put just a touch of perfume in her hair—anyway it wasn't that, it was something. What did we do? Well, danced to a portable—I'll bet we played 'Rose of San Antonio' a dozen times—and Peggy and I figured out a way we could dance with my arm in a sling. And afterward we sat out on the grass and talked. I remember someone saying, 'You think they'll ever bomb this place?' Of course we knew eventually they would, but that night the war seemed a thousand miles away. Only somebody spoiled it all by asking Peggy when this medical officer was getting back from Bataan, and she said she thought tomorrow."

"Next day I was out in the courtyard getting some fresh air," Lieutenant Kelly, who was invalided in the tunnel hospital at Corregidor continued: "I was allowed a certain number of hours per day out of my bunk—when the air-raid alarm went off, but by now we didn't pay any attention. I looked up to notice that nine Jap planes were going overhead, but what the hell, they did that all the time, and of course the anti-aircraft opened up—just a formality, because they were up out of range—when all of a sudden—bam! the whole Rock seemed to jump, and we made a dive for the tunnel, because at last they were bombing us. 'It was quite a pasting. Half an hour later a batch of nurses came in in an ambulance—pretty well shaken up. They'd been strafed—had to leave the ambulance and run for the roadside ditches. A few minutes later the wounded began to come in—all the serious cases went into my ward. They had only two operating tables, so the litters were lined up, waiting their turn, while the nurses pitched in and took care of the minor surgery—cleaning wounds, digging for shrapnel, bandaging. There was no time for anesthetics except a quarter of a grain of morphine, but the wounded certainly had guts. They'd grab the side of their litter with clenched fists, and tell the nurses to go to it—it really wasn't hurting much."

"The raid had been going on an hour when all of a sudden the lights went out, but in half a minute the girls had produced flashlights. I remember Peggy standing there holding a flashlight on a guy's naked back on the operating table while a doctor probed for some shrapnel in his kidney. You could see her face and those steady blue-green eyes of hers by the light reflected back up from this guy's back, and just then there was a terrific crunching bang—a bomb had landed right outside the tunnel entrance—and with it a sudden blast of air through the tunnel. It wasn't nice, and yet I don't think Peggy's hand even wobbled."

"Presently the lights came on, and we found one hospital corps man had crawled under a bed. He wasn't even sheepish. 'You're damn right I was scared,' he said. 'Thought the whole place was coming down on us.' Peggy's flashlight beam on that naked back had not moved. Hell of a fine, nifty girl to have in a war. Any other time."

"But it was getting on toward New Year's, and bad news began to come from Manila. The Japs were closing in."

"But very few of them realized it in Manila," said Akers. "I was there with my boat on courier duty from December 13 until Manila fell. Staying with Admiral Hart until the seaplane took him out to join the Dutch East Indies fleet."

"You certainly couldn't criticize morale. The average Filipino had a childish belief in us. He was absolutely certain that the Americans would be there next week with plenty of equipment. Dead-sure that our American soldiers would throw back the Japanese. Believed all the optimistic broadcasts and rumors."

"When a raid would come, of course, they were pretty excited. We slept aboard the boat, and when the bombs started down, we were supposed to get away from the wharf and out into the bay. Sometimes people used to stow away, to get away from the bombs."

"They never lost faith, though. Right up to the end there were big dances at the Manila Hotel, and you could watch the Filipino boys in uniform, telling their girls about their heroic exploits. And there were plenty of them to tell, too."

"But over at the American Army and Navy Club, they knew what the score was. They didn't feel like dancing there. Their faces were plenty long."

"Of course the higher-up Filipinos knew the truth. If you'd see one with a long face, you could be sure he was a Senator, or better."

"I had a girl there—Dolores was her first name, and by American standards she was good-looking as hell. Her father was a Spaniard from Catalonia and her mother was a mestiza. She'd been elected Miss Philippines a year or so before. Fairly tall and lithe, with big black eyes and enough of the Oriental so you'd never forget her face among the other brunettes you know."

"Her father I think was a Senator, and the family had a hell of a lot of money. His brother owned a lot of mines. They had a big colonial house in the suburbs. Usually when I was invited out she'd send a car down for me, but the first time I was coming out alone she said never mind about directions—and so it turned out. Every traffic cop I met knew just who they were and could point me on my way. So they were really big shots on the island."

"Her father knew what the score was, although Dolores didn't dream it was coming so soon. The last time I saw her, just before the Japs came in, she knew Manila had been declared an open city, but she thought that only meant there wouldn't be any more bombs. All that night the southern army had been moving through Manila, trying to get to Bataan before they were cut off, but she didn't know what the marching meant. That night her uncle, a tough old Spaniard who had mines all over the world, got pretty drunk and almost had a row with her father, the Senator."

"The uncle said the whole mess was the fault of this opposition faction of Filipino politicians hollering their silly heads off for independence—no wonder the Americans, if they were getting out in four more years, hadn't socked a lot of money into fortifications. Then he cussed the Filipino politicians out for not appropriating money for the army—they'd set MacArthur up with a big salary and a penthouse, and then hardly given him a dime to train and equip an army—it was all window-dressing."

"He said he wasn't so worried about himself because he owned plenty of property outside the islands. But he told the Senator he'd probably end up pulling a rickshaw for his part in this independence foolishness, and serve him damned well right. So I could see there were a few natives who knew what the score was."

What You Buy With WAR BONDS

Rural Electrification has made great strides during the past ten years, bringing to thousands of farm homes the conveniences of their city brothers. Today, however, copper wiring, fixtures—all the materials which are required for rural electrification—are "out" for the duration.

The farmers of the nation, however, can start now buying rural electrification and all the equipment which goes with it through purchase of War Bonds. Your War Bonds today will buy rural electrification tomorrow and give you back $4 for every $3 you invest.

We build gliders in three types and their capacity is a military secret. The type shown here costs about $19,000 each. Buy War Bonds with at least ten percent of your income every payday and help pay for these gliders for our intrepid fighting men.

Precious Stones

Care for precious pearls regularly. Restring at least once a year. Examine the threads frequently for signs of wear; do not twist or pull pearls when wearing them and lay them flat when you put them away. Occasionally rub pearls with a chamois, going in between to remove deposit collected on them. Clean pearls with a mild soap and warm water, using a small soft brush.

"Substance" was the subject of the Lesson-Sermon in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, on Sunday, March 14.

The Golden Text was, "Thine, O Lord, is the greatness, and the power, and the glory, and the victory, and the majesty: . . . both riches and honor come of thee, and thou reignest over all." (1 Chron. 29:11, 12).

Among the citations which comprised the Lesson-Sermon was the following from the Bible: "I the Preacher was king over Israel in Jerusalem. And I gave my heart to seek and search out by wisdom concerning all things that are done under heaven: Then I looked on all the works that my hands had wrought, and on the labour that I had laboured to do; and, behold, all was vanity and vexation of spirit, and there was no profit under the sun" (Ecc. 1:12, 13 to :), Ecc. 2:11).

The Lesson-Sermon also included the following passages from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy: "How true it is that whatever is learned through material sense must be lost because such so-called knowledge is reversed by the spiritual facts of being in Science. That which material sense calls intangible, is found to be substance. What to material sense seems substance, becomes nothingness, as the sense-dream vanishes and reality appears" (p. 312).

LENTEN SEASON

Methodist Church, Antioch, Ill.

Last Sunday, the first of Lent, the morning service was well attended.

The pastor spoke from the theme: "The Magnetism of the Cross." Points of emphasis were: The cross and Jesus must be kept together or both become meaningless and powerless.

You cannot have the Christianity of Jesus without the cross of Jesus.

Whenever and wherever the cross has been kept unobscured in the forefront, Jesus has drawn men and women unto himself and to his way of life. "I do not know how he does it, I only know he does."

Other subjects to follow are: The Need of the Cross, the Reason for the Cross, the Loneliness of the Cross, the Foolishness of the Cross, and the Strength of the Cross. These studies will be at 11:00 A. M. Other meditations will be at 7:30 p. m. each Sunday during Lent. This season should be a time to deepening and enriching Christian experience. We invite you to share it with us. Slogan—Attend Church at least once each Sunday until Easter.

Warren C. Henslee, Minister.

Public Debt

Our 27-billion-dollar ship construction program about equals the amount of the U. S. public debt in 1934, and the value of munitions and war construction output in August —$4,700,000,000—was four times the public debt in 1912.

Robert Dressel is now a Marine. He is stationed at San Diego, Calif.

From North Africa comes a letter dated Feb. 28, 1943—

Dear Sirs: It has been great getting the home town paper and all the local dirt which you miss in letters from home. There has been some very good reading for a boy a long way from the home town.

The paper is coming now all in bunches. They are coming from as far back as the first of October—but they are all coming.

There are some boys here with us from Antioch and around that vicinity and they are getting the paper, too, and we all pass them around.

Things can be a lot worse than what they are but will still be glad to get back.

Yours truly

Harold Arnold.

To Our Children in the Service

Someone's mighty lonesome,

Since you went away;

Misses you, wishes you

Would come back some day.

Someone keeps remembering

Moments spent with you,

Sighs a little, cries a little,

Feels so very blue.

Someone hopes you will find the gold

Where the rainbow ends,

Attain success, win happiness,

And true and loyal friends.

So someone will be waiting

And keeping back the tears

Praying for you, hoping for you

Through the silent years.

Miss Shirley Reynolds Attends Physical Ed. Meeting at Oak Park

(By Theodora Hennings)

The State Convention of Physical Education which was held in Oak Park, Ill., March 13, was attended by Miss Shirley Reynolds, physical education instructor at Antioch Township High school. The meeting opened at 9:15 with a general assembly and was followed with a tentative program of different things pertaining to physical education. A luncheon was served and Army and Naval officers gave speeches on the importance of physical education in military service.

The part of the program that Miss Reynolds was most interested in was the discussion group led by Miss La Salle from the U. S. Office of Education. The discussion was mostly about the Victory Corps Manual. This manual shows the exercises and obstacle tests similar to those used in the armed services conditioning classes. Miss Reynolds stated that the girls' gym classes would follow the manual.

Other points brought out at the meeting were the necessity of putting students through vigorous exercises to make the girls physically fit for war work and possible military service and to help the boys withstand the hardships of war.

In addition to the speeches there were some posture and calisthenic demonstrations and folk dances in which the assembly could participate.

Faculty Party

(By Ted Smith)

On Thursday, March 11, the high school faculty held a party for the faculty of the grade school. The guests of honor were Mr. Clabaugh, former principal of the grade school, Mr. Whitacre who is the new principal, and Mr. Wolfenbarger, the high school coach who is going into the navy for the duration.

The party which was held in the library of the high school started with singing directed by Mr. Von Holwede. Afterwards bridge was played for a few hours. First prize for the women was won by Mrs. Petty while Mr. Clabaugh won first prize for the men and Mr. Petty took second place.

At the end of the evening a supper was served in the cafeteria. Mr. Von Holwede, the master of ceremonies, called on Mr. Petty, Mr. Birkhead, and the three guests of honor for speeches.

Miss Krusa, Miss Dixon, and Mr. Von Holwede were members of the committee who planned and directed the party.

Wandering Faculty

(By Pat Ryan)

During the past year many changes have occurred in the faculty of the high school. Quite a few of the teachers who had been with us so long have wandered from our spacious corridors.

First of all, our former principal, Mr. Austin, is down in Pensacola, Florida, in the Naval Reserves. Mr. Haack who was one of our most competent instructors is now teaching radio mechanics in Madison, Wis. The former Latin and English teacher, Miss McDorman, has gone down to Texas and is leading a quiet married life.

Miss Olson who was the commercial teacher is in Waukegan recovering from a long illness while Mrs. Phillips, the dramatic instructor, is teaching in that same city. Lastly, Miss Betty Grimes, the secretary, has joined the WAAS and is down in Georgia at Fort Oglethorpe.

These teachers have also strayed from our midst and we would appreciate it if anyone could give us information concerning them: Mr. Weiss, Miss Lantges, Miss Ross, Mrs. Wylie, and Miss Larimer.

Coach

(By June Spangard)

Aye, Aye, Sir, and Yes, Sir, that's all that we hear,

For our coach is leaving and that's in the clear.

He told us right out that he'd sure hate to go,

But we're in a war and he's part of the show.

We'll miss him, we'll miss him a lot,

that's no lie,

But his job's conditioning our pilots to fly.

With us out here pitching with rubber and tin,

And him in the navy, we're sure to win.

We'll miss those assemblies and all those fine tips,

On who's going to win the basketball

quips,

One thing was queer though, they always were the same,

He say, quote "Why Antioch, they'll win the game."

Always was teasing a great sport with him,

And he made things cheery, when they looked kinda dim,

If you made straight F's and he knew

you were trying,

You'd pass with an A, and boy, I'm not lying.

We believed and we trusted and we came out on top,

And if he hadn't been here we'd sure

been a flop.

We'll tell him "so long" with a grin

and a whack,

And when the war's over try our best to get him back.

Give Party for Ensign Wolfenbarger

(By Charles Jorgensen)

Last Friday night the "A" club and Pep Club sponsored a farewell party for Mr. Wolfenbarger who is leaving for the navy.

Music was supplied by the Swing Band and Jack Fields was the master of ceremonies for a floor show that was given. Coca colas were served as refreshments.

Ensign Wolfenbarger was given a beautiful suitcase by the faculty and students. There was much evidence that Coach and his ability will be missed. In his two years at Antioch the high school has had three championship teams.

New Drapes for Library

(By Judy Pregoner)

Something new has been added! You should go down into the library at the high school and see the new drapes that have been put up.

The school bought the material, a turquoise blue with a white leaf pattern, and two student librarians, Ruth Winfield and Judy Pregoner, made the six pairs of drapes.

The deadline for the completed work was last Thursday night so it would be in place for the faculty party to be held in the library. That afternoon Mr. Birkhead came down and loaned a helping hand and the job was done in time.

Better Hog Production With Cement Floors

(By Lawrence Dunford)

Mr. Kutil has given special time explaining better hog production to the boys in his agriculture class. Some farmers feel that cement floors take more money than the animals earn but this is not true.

Hogs do better on cement because it is more sanitary and can easily be washed. Raised on this plan, hogs have been known to weigh 325 pounds in 200 days. This is a gain of over one and a half pounds per day. Also sows or gilts with litters have a chance to raise their litters more quickly.

In warm weather it is best to spray the pigs with cool water. If the floor is laid slanting this is easier since the water runs off quickly. Many farmers wash their pigs once a week in addition to the warm weather showers.

Hogs which have clean skins and are fed only growing food bring only

WEEKLY NEWS ANALYSIS

Nazi Counter Drive in Kharkov Area Wins Back Part of Russ Winter Gains; Wallace Warns of Future War Menace; Allies Tighten Ring on Rommel Armies

(EDITOR'S NOTE: When opinions are expressed in these columns, they are those of Western Newspaper Union's news analysts and not necessarily of this newspaper.)
Released by Western Newspaper Union.

NORTH AFRICA:

Rommel Rages

Like a wild animal in a cage, Marshal Rommel had struck out at the forces hemming in his 250,000 army in Tunisia. His principal offensive had been a heavy thrust at Gen. Sir Bernard Montgomery's British Eighth army before the strategic Mareth line in Southern Tunisia.

But the wary Englishman had anticipated the German move and his deadly artillery fire had repelled repeated Nazi attacks with "very heavy losses."

Rommel, a master of tank warfare, had attempted to break through the British lines with his heavy mechanized equipment, but when he was forced to withdraw wrecked German tanks were strewn over the battlefield.

In the north the British First army had regained the initiative and was pressing the enemy, while on the central front the American forces were moving steadily to hem the Axis in.

DRAFT:

Plan to Save Farmers

Plans of the administration to take the pressure of the draft off the nation's shorted pool of farm labor apparently contemplate the induction of unmarried men over 38 or those in that age group without dependents. This, at least, was the interpretation of Washington observers concerning orders by the War Manpower commission to the selective service to reclassify such men 1A beginning May 1.

The Manpower commission's action followed the announcement of a four-point plan for the deferment of essential farm labor. It came at a moment, too, when the congressional farm bloc had launched a drive to clarify the farm labor confusion.

Local draft boards were under orders hereafter to place no more men in Class 4-H and to reclassify out of 4-H into 1-A all such men now deferred because over the military age limit. At the same time draft boards were ordered to begin reclassification immediately of all men over 38 who may become eligible for class 2-C or 3-C deferment because connected with essential farm work.

U. S.-RUSSIA:

Need More 'Trust'

Although the storm over Ambassador-Admiral William H. Standley's complaint concerning Russia's failure to inform its people fully about the great extent of American aid had subsided and future lend-lease shipments on an ever-bigger scale were assured, the need for greater mutual confidence between the two Allies continued.

This need was stressed by Vice President Henry A. Wallace in a speech which coincidentally enough was delivered at the time Standley's statement was made public. Mr. Wallace had stressed the fact that a third World war might result unless the western democracies and Russia reach a satisfactory understanding.

"War will be probable in case we doublecross Russia," Wallace said.

VICE PRESIDENT WALLACE
... beware World War III.

"Such a war would be inevitable if Russia should again embrace the Trotskyist idea of fomenting world revolution, or if British interests should again be sympathetic to anti-Russian activity in Germany and other countries."

HIGHLIGHTS . . . in the week's news

CHICAGO: With an abundance of billing and cooing, 5,605 fast-flying doves were drafted in Chicago for the army, reducing the city's peace-time pigeon population by one-sixth. The war first drafted a big group of racing pigeons from the city a year ago. These traditional symbols of peace were reported in action from Bataan to Britain, according to a report received here.

RUSSIA:

Nazis Uncoil

Three reasons were cited by military observers for the initial success of the sudden German counter-offensive west of Rostov and south of Kharkov which in its early stages had swept forward 100 miles and resulted in the capture of eight key cities in the Donetz basin which had been taken earlier by the Soviets in their great winter drive.

One reason was the use by the Nazis of 25 fresh divisions. Twelve of these had been rushed from western Europe and the others replenished after previous action. A second reason was the draining of troops from this southern sector by the Russians to supply momentum to their drive on Orel and Vyazma to the north. The third was the superiority of Axis supply lines and communications in the Donetz area.

The serious extent of these early German successes was evident in the fact that Russian official communiques had admitted the loss of the cities the Germans had claimed. Russ reports disclosed that the German move had actually started late in February.

The setback in the south had not prevented the Russians from continuing their drive on Vyazma. Red communiques had reported the capture of Tiomkino.

FOOD SUPPLY:

Nutrition Level Dips

That the food situation in the United States is rapidly bringing the American people down to the Canadian and British level of nutrition was the opinion voiced by Secretary of Agriculture Claude Wickard.

Mr. Wickard likewise disclosed that the amount of food available for civilians "is going to be something less than it is at the present time."

CLAUDE WICKARD

in testimony before the senate appropriations committee.

Because of the increasing demand for proteins and fats—including meat, dairy products and some oil crops—from our military forces and our Allies, Mr. Wickard said the American people will probably have to live more on vegetable fats and proteins than they formerly did. "We have about reached the place now where we cannot expand our meat production any more," he said, "because we are not going to have enough of the basic element—feed—to support much more increase."

LABOR MANHUNT:

French Fight Nazis

Adolf Hitler's desperate need for manpower had caused the Nazi to put more than usual pressure on the collaborative Laval regime for more French workers.

The German demand had been for 400,000 men. When Nazi soldiers abetted by the Vichy government set out to meet this goal, the trouble started.

Street fighting, guerrilla tactics and sabotage were the French Patriots' answer to this effort to bolster Germany's waning manpower resources. Reports received by the Fighting French in London indicated that in a single 72-hour uprising, more than 350 German soldiers had been killed.

Swift and cruel were the reprisals taken for this insubordination. But the repressive measures only served to fan the flames of French hatred against the German conquerors.

WASHINGTON: How Lieut. Chester W. Nimitz Jr., son of the Pacific admiral, won the silver star medal was disclosed in a navy report. The citation made public here says young Nimitz served with "conspicuous gallantry and intrepidity" as torpedo and gunnery officer and later as executive officer on two war patrols. During a third patrol near Java, he also won distinction.

THE FOLLOWING STATES HAVE

SEVERED RELATIONS WITH THE AXIS:

Venezuela, Colombia, Ecuador, Peru, Bolivia, Paraguay, Uruguay, Egypt, Saudi Arabia, Chile.

The above chart shows at a glance which nations of the world have declared war against the others. Of all the United Nations only three—Britain, Czechoslovakia and China—have declared war on the entire Axis tribe. The United States expects Finland which yet may be induced to quit the Axis.

PACIFIC FRONT:

Jap Power Wanes

In the Far Eastern war theater, reports from China disclosed that the main Japanese offensive in Western Yunnan province along the old Burma road had been halted on the west bank of the Salween river. Waning enemy air power in the Burma-China area was indicated by Allied reports that repeated attacks by American and British fliers on Jap objectives had failed to lure any Nipponese planes into battle.

On the Solomon Islands battlefield, American planes roved to the northward raiding Kahili, Buin and Ballale in the Shortland Islands area and Viru Harbor in New Georgia. The Japs retaliated with a raid on Tulagi close to Guadalcanal.

Summarizing the situation in the Pacific, Secretary of the Navy Frank Knox said that American forces are stronger than ever before in the Solomon Islands sector while throughout the South Pacific, the Japs are having increasing difficulty in supplying their island bases.

Without adequate shipping, the secretary explained, the Japs cannot maintain their South Pacific bases and face further retirement.

ANTI-VICHY:

Action in No. Africa

Increasing evidence that Gen. Henri Giraud's North Africa regime will move steadily further away from Vichy influences and ever closer to the democratic methods of the United Nations was seen in the high commissioner's summary action in repudiating all Petain decrees relating to African colonial affairs and liquidating the entire government bureau concerned with restrictions on Jews.

"A decree signed in Vichy has no effect in North Africa," was Giraud's terse explanation. "The German occupation interrupted the free exercise of national sovereignty."

General Giraud's action followed that of Governor General Nogues of French Morocco reinstating government workers dismissed under Vichy's orders and repealing the ban on listening to certain foreign broadcasts. In repealing the Vichy anti-Semitic decrees, High Commissioner Giraud ordered General Brunty, who dealt with Jewish problems, to be removed from office.

CHINA:

Destiny's Crossroads

A 10-year reconstruction program for China, including the building of 20,000 transport planes, was proposed by Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek in his book, "China's Destiny."

While his wife, Madame Chiang, was busy winning friends for China on her visit to the United States, the Generalissimo disclosed plans calling for 2,400,000 graduates from various grades of technical schools to aid in developing postwar China.

What You Buy With WAR BONDS

The biggest field gun in the Army. That's the 240-mm. howitzer. It's twenty-feet of barrel and must be pulled into position by tractors. After it is rolled into place, its own wheels are removed and the Big Bertha is set upon its emplacement ready to fire at its target some twenty miles away.

The cost of these huge guns runs into thousands of dollars but we can assure the Army of obtaining them by our purchases of War Bonds. Ten percent or more of your income is necessary. The easiest way is to join the Payroll Savings Plan at your office or factory. Let's "Top that ten percent."

Pure Arabian Ancestry

Nalchik, Russia, is on a small, flat plateau at the 1,600-foot level of the foothills. The settlements on the plateau included many German farmers until they were deported as potential fifth columnists. The town's normal population is about 23,000, while the Kabardino-Balkar republic which it governs numbers 359,000 inhabitants. They are mostly Kabardines of pure Arabian ancestry, and now are practicing the progressive methods of agriculture introduced by the Soviet Five-Year plans.

Delicious Recipes Can Be Made With Domestic Rabbit

Good housewives of this community do not ordinarily look to the feed dealer for food suggestions or new cooking recipes. But the Purlina Chow merchant of our town who is now sponsoring a "Home Food Lot" Program for "back-yard farmers" recommends the following recipes for their tastiness, economy, variety, and wholesome nutrition.

Golden Brown Fried Rabbit

1 1/2 to 2 lbs. dressed rabbit
1 1/2 teaspoons salt
1/4 teaspoon pepper
1 slightly beaten egg
2 tablespoons water
1 cup fine, dry bread crumbs

Wash and wipe rabbit with damp cloth. Cut into 6 pieces for serving. Add salt and pepper to beaten egg. Dip rabbit pieces into egg mixture, then roll in crumbs. Brown in 1/4 inch hot fat. Then reduce heat, cover and cook slowly 30 minutes longer, or until tender. Serves 3 to 4. Serve on a bed of boiled rice with brown gravy. FOR BROWNING GRAVY, drain off all fat remaining in pan except 3 tablespoons. Blend in 3 tablespoons flour, 1/4 teaspoon salt and 1/4 teaspoon pepper. Cook, stirring until brown. Stir in 1 1/2 cups water or rabbit stock. Boil 2 minutes, stirring constantly. Serve at once.

Delicious Rabbit Salad

2 1/2 cups diced, cooked rabbit
1 1/2 cups diced celery
1/2 cup diced sweet pickle
1/2 cup mayonnaise
2 tablespoons lemon juice
1/2 teaspoon salt
Few grains pepper

Put rabbit meat, diced celery and pickle in mixing bowl. Mix with remaining ingredients. Chill and serve on lettuce with a garnish of hard-cooked eggs and sweet pickles. Serves 4.

Tasty Rabbit Pot Pie

1 1/2 to 2 lbs. dressed rabbit
3 cups boiling water
3 tablespoons butter or other fat
3 tablespoons flour
3 tablespoons chopped onion
1 1/2 teaspoons salt
1/2 cup diced green pepper
1/4 teaspoon pepper

Wash and cut rabbit into pieces for serving. Cover and cook slowly in boiling water to which 1 teaspoon salt has been added for 1 1/2 hours, or until tender. Drain and save broth. Remove meat from bones and dice. Melt butter in saucepan. Add onion and green pepper and cook 5 minutes, or until tender. Blend in flour, salt and pepper. Stir in broth and boil 2 minutes. Add rabbit meat and heat thoroughly. Pour into making dish. Cover with pot pie crust. (Use your favorite pie crust recipe.) Bake in hot oven (425° F.) until crust is brown.

Electric Power speeds production of Bomber Telephones

In huge American bombers and other war planes, the inter-telephone system is the means of constant contact between the crew members. Equipped with microphones and receivers, the pilot, co-pilot, navigators, gunners and bombardiers function as a team in locating and blasting the enemy targets.

In producing this vital communication equipment for America's planes, manufacturing plants working day and night depend on a constant supply of Electric Power.

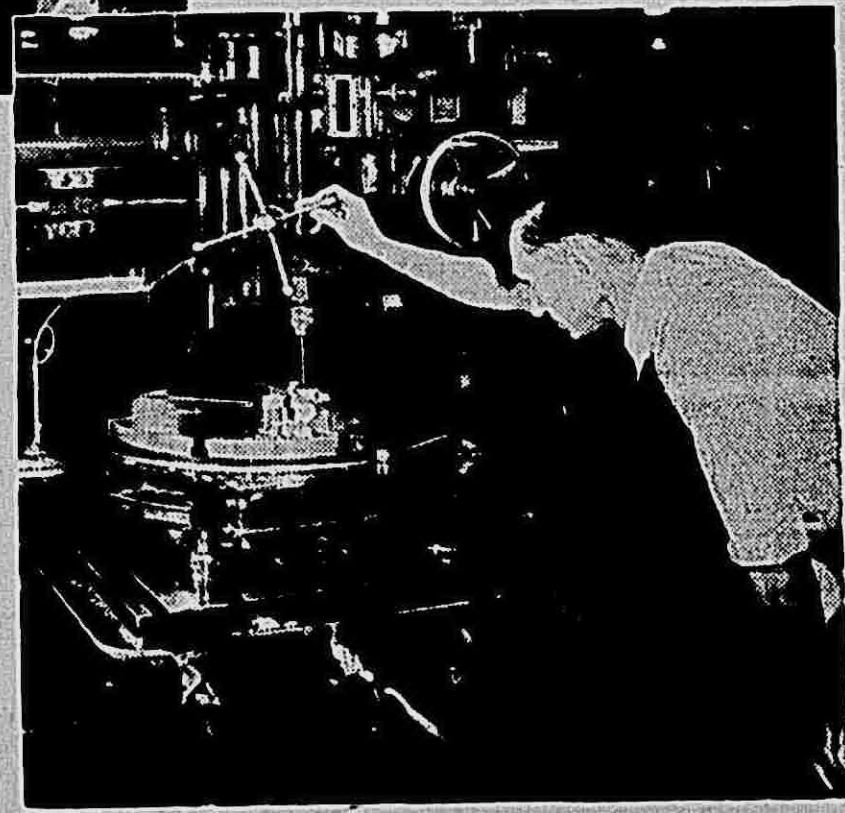

Maintaining this flow of electrical energy to these plants and all war production plants in Northern Illinois, is our wartime assignment and our chief endeavor.

After checking the drift meter and plotting the data, the navigator transmits the information by telephone to the pilot of the plane who then sets the correct course.

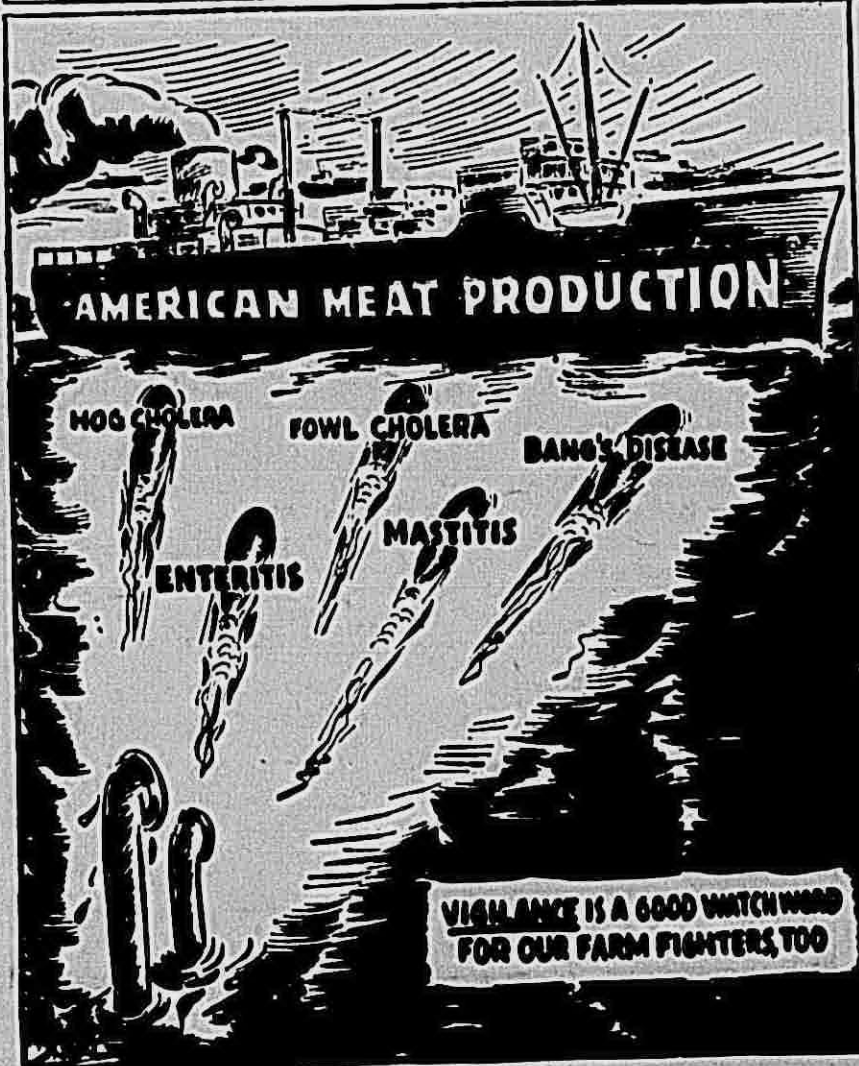

Electric precision testing machines are used in checking aircraft telephone equipment. Individual parts are tested before the complete telephone system is assembled.

By keeping this jig boring machine and scores of other machines running, Electric Power helps speed the production of telephone equipment for America's planes.

quantity of hunting and fishing equipment. Evidently angered at finding no loot in the Dorio cottage, the youths threw kerosene from a lamp in the cottage on the floor and walls of the building and set fire to it.

The fire was discovered by residents of the subdivision and the Antioch Fire department called to the scene. Chief Louis Van Patten of the department and James Stearns, Illinois state deputy fire marshal, suspected incendiary and began an investigation which resulted in the apprehension of the boys in Antioch. Richard Allner of the department was sent to Antioch to make a search for the youths and found them in a restaurant. The loot was still in their possession and a confession was obtained by Allner and Lake county deputies who were also called to the scene.

Kenosha county sheriff's deputies were notified and they took the boys to Kenosha where they were lodged in the county jail until their trial Monday.

Damage to the Dorio cottage was estimated at $2,000.

The Great Whatisit

When Lewis Browne, the author, lectured at an army camp recently on the meaning of this war, a soldier approached him at the close of the talk and asked: "What was that you did up there, Professor? It wasn't a speech, because after a speech you've got to ask for votes. It wasn't a sermon, because you didn't quote Scripture. So what was it?" "It was a lecture," Browne told him. "Thank you, sir," the soldier smiled.

45% of Delinquencies in Selective Service Reported Cleared up

As a result of a nation-wide campaign to clear up all cases of suspected Selective Service delinquency approximately 45% of such cases were cleared in Illinois, largely through the cooperation of newspaper editors, it was announced today by Col. Paul G. Armstrong, State Director. Of the other 55%, many local boards in this state have reported hopes that many of them, also, will be cleared up shortly the State Director said. All suspected delinquency cases, however, which are not corrected, will be turned over to the United States district attorneys for investigation.

State Director Armstrong pointed out that the Selective Service system has no desire to build up a large list of delinquents and report them for prosecution. Instead, he said, the local boards have been instructed to be as liberal as possible in dealing with delinquents who voluntarily report delinquency such as failure to notify boards of change of address or change of status.

"Deliberate indifference on the part of a registrant," he stressed, "will only make serious trouble for that registrant, and I urge every man who has not notified his local board of a change of address, or who has failed to comply with some other requirement of the law, to get in touch with his local board immediately. Otherwise, the F. B. I. will get in touch with him."
